Tornados Rip Across Kentucky Owsley Countains Jump to Aid Those in Need

Weather across Kentucky for the past two weeks has been, what you might call a bit "unusual". I can surely say that March 2012 came in like a Lion instead of a Lamb. Our days have gone from 70's to snow, to tornadoes, to mid 50's to tornadoes to snow and now sunny days again. Last week Magoffin County was hit not once but twice with tornadoes almost completely wiping out the city of West Liberty. East Bernstadt in Laurel County was hit with a tornado and wiped out a large section of that small community. According to the London Kentucky State Police have closed ½ mile – stretch of U.S. North of London so utility crews can repair damage from last Friday's tornadoes. The utility company are replacing utility poles and stretching new electrical wire in place of the damaged ones. According to Trooper Don Troser, the traffic was making it difficult and dangerous for the workers, so for the safety of everybody, they just decided to go ahead and shut it down. Trooper Troser also stated that it would remain closed depending on time it took the utility company to finish their job.

Following Friday's violent storms, heavy winds and tornado's that ripped across Kentucky and then the

To many picking up litter is just the right thing to do, however your good deed could be more dangerous than you think.

MARCH IS METH AWARENESS MONTH

The picture above is of One Step Meth Labs. To the unsuspecting eye they just look like pop bottles that have been tossed out or regular litter left behind, but in reality they could be active meth labs. Using the one-pot method means that meth cooks can make meth in one sealed container which is generally flipped upside-down to cause the reaction needed to turn several toxic ingredients into meth. This method generally produces meth in smaller quantity, but doesn't make it any less dangerous.

The chemical reaction going on inside the container (which can be anything but is usually a soda bottle) causes an extremely high amount of pressure to build up within the container after being shaken. The biggest danger in relation to this method is the fact that it is fast and portable. So portable in fact, that it is most common to find people using this method to make meth in their car. They generally drive around while the meth is being made to release the fumes and when the process is over, some 40 minutes later, they simply chuck the used container filled with toxic chemical residue out of the window. Aside from the environmental impact this has, it also poses a hazard to children that naturally want to explore and pick up the things they find.

Hello to everyone in Owsley, it's time for the Word once again. I want to write about the Word this week.

Proverbs 25:11 A word fitly spoken is like apples of gold in pictures of silver.
Matthew 12: 36,37 36But I say unto you, that every idle word that men shall speak, they shall give account thereof in the day of Judgment. 37 For by thy words thou shalt be justified, and by thy words thou shalt be condemned.
Matthew 24:35 Heaven and Earth shall pass away, but my words shall not pass away.
John 6:68, 69 68Then Simon Peter answered him, Lord, to whom s hall we go? Thou has the words of eternal life. 69And we believe and are sure that thou art that Christ, the Son of the Living God.
Colossians 3:16, 17 16Let the Word of Christ dwell in you richly in all wisdom, teaching and admonishing one another in Psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing with grace in your hearts to the Lord. 17And whatsoever ye do in word or deed, do all in the name of the Lord, Jesus, giving thanks to God and the Father by him.

I Thessalonians 1:5 For our Gospel came not unto you in word only, but also in power, and in the Holy Ghost, and in much assurance, as ye know what manner of men we were among you for your sake.
I Thessalonians 4:18 Wherefore comfort one another with these words.

II Timothy 2:15 Study to shew thy self approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth.

II Timothy 4:2, 3 2Preach the word, be instant in season, out of season, reprove, rebuke, exhort, with all long-suffering and doctrine. 3For the time will come when they will not endure sound doctrine, but after their own lusts shall they heap to themselves teachers, having itching ears.

Hebrews 4:12 For the Word of God is quick and powerful and sharper than any two edged sword, piercing even to the dividing asunder of soul and spirit, and of the joints and marrow, and is a discerner of the thoughts and intents of the heart.

James 1:22, 23 22But be ye doers of the Word and not hearers only, deceiving your own selves. 23For if any be a hearer of the Word, and not a doer, he is like unto a man beholding his natural face in a glass.

I John 2:5 But whoso keepeth his word, in him verily is the love of God perfected, hereby know we t hat we are in him.

May God Bless until next time. Keep His word in your hearts.

Money Tips for Students: How to Make It, Use It and Save It Be Sure You Understand A Contract Before You Sign It

A contract is a written agreement between two or more parties in which an offer is made and accepted. The Kentucky Higher Education Assistance Authority (KHEAA) advises that if you are thinking about signing a contract, make sure you fully understand it first. If you rent an apartment or have your own cell phone plan, you have probably signed a contract. If you have taken out a federal student loan, you entered a contract when you signed your Master Promissory Note.

Since a contract sets out in detail what each party is obligated to do for the other party, you should read each contract thoroughly and ask questions. If one of the parties agrees to make a change in the contract, make sure the change is in writing. Get all of your questions answered before you sign the contract, and keep a copy after you have signed. In some cases, you may want to have an attorney review the contract before you sign it.

Consumer protection laws let you cancel some contracts within three days of signing. Before you sign any contract, find out if you have that option. If you do not, your options of getting out of the contract are limited.

If someone uses high-pressure tactics to get you to sign a contract, consider that a warning sign and consider walking away from the agreement.

KHEAA is the state agency that administers Kentucky's grant and scholarship programs, including the Kentucky Educational Excellence Scholarship (KEES).

OCHS Students Grow On PLAN and EXPLORE Tests!

In September, students in the 8th and 10th grades at OCHS took the EXPLORE and PLAN assessments. The EXPLORE and PLAN assessments (along with the ACT) are designed to determine the college and career readiness of students. Owsley County 8th grade student's scores increased from 14.3 (out of 25) in 2010 to a 15.1 in 2011 on the Explore exam. This is an increase of .8 points. On the PLAN assessment, the growth was 1.1 points over 2010 with a 2011 composite of 16.7 (out of 32). Both of these were significant growth for the students of OCHS and moved Owsley County's scores among the top schools in Eastern Kentucky.

The EXPLORE and PLAN test scores are important indicators as to how students will perform on the ACT assessment. Students and teachers can utilize the data to help students find out how well they know subject matter and what they need to learn next. The EXPLORE and PLAN results will help them achieve higher scores on the ACT and more importantly, will help them prepare for college and be career ready.

OCHS students have a lot to be proud of. Students that took the assessment were rewarded with a trip to Richmond to see a movie and have lunch. The students and staff have worked extremely hard to increase the rigor at OCHS. We will continue this work until we have reached the goals set by the district and state.

Storm Victim Donations

We were very fortunate in Owsley County this past week to escape the severe storms that devastated parts of Central and Eastern Kentucky. Our neighbors were not as fortunate and our thoughts and prayers go out to them.

I would personally like to thank Jason Jackson and Owsley County Emergency Management, all Owsley County Fire Departments, the Owsley County Rescue Squad, Superintendent Tim Bobrowski and the Owsley County School District, our area churches and everyone involved in storm preparations. By working together, we were able to provide emergency shelter for our county.

In the future we plan to add other means of communications for emergency notification. As well as the school district's One Call Now, we will post messages on the Owsley County Emergency Management Facebook page and on the home page of www.owsleycountyky.com. Hopefully, in this way we will be able to reach more people in all areas of the county.

This week we will be collecting donations to share with those communities that were hardest hit on Friday evening. I ask all citizens of Owsley County to please donate any items that you can spare to these people that have lost everything. The emergency shelter at the Owsley County Senior Citizens building will be open every day this week from 8:00 AM to 4:00 PM to accept donations. Items such as bottled water, canned food, paper products, trash bags, pet food, and pampers are just an example of items that are needed. I have spoken with the Red Cross and with Kentucky Emergency Management and they tell me that the demand for these items will be greater next week, and in the weeks to come. So, we plan to deliver all contributions next week-end.

If you need additional information or additional drop off times for donations, please contact the Owsley County Judge's Office at 606-593-6202.

I hope you will join us as we help those who have lost so much.

Three Place At Indoor State Track

The Owsley County Track team traveled to Louisville on Saturday, March 3, to compete at the Mason-Dixon Games. This meet also doubles as the unofficial State Indoor Track Championships.

Because of the extreme weather situation, the team did not leave Booneville until 4:00 am on Saturday morning. An 8:00 am start time necessitated an early morning trip, but the Owl tracksters eagerly anticipated the opportunity to compete in the larger venue of the M-D Games.

There were three Owsley County thinclads who placed in the meet.

Leading the way was ninth grader Logan Campbell, who placed fifth in the 3000 meter run. Logan lowered his time from last year by 10 seconds and improved his placing from 7th to 5th, clocking a 10:28 for the 15 lap event

Senior Kayla White placed for the fourth year in a row at the M-D Games, finishing in sixth place in the Shot Put. She tossed the 8-lb shot some 26 feet, 8 ¾ inches.

Junior Brittany Schade placed seventh in the girls 55 meter hurdles by posting a 10.9 finish. She lowered her time by some 1.2 seconds in the event to place at the M-D Games for the first time. That might not sound like much, but is actually a huge improvement from last season.

Because of these three athletes, the boys place 16th out of 27 entered schools with 4 points. The girls were 16th out of 23 entered schools with 5 points.

It is also worth noting that Michael Congleton's 10-year-old record in the 1500 fell this year. Congleton had set the record in 2002 when he became the State Indoor Champ in that event, running a very fine 4:15. This year's winner, Jacob Thomson (Louisville Holy Cross), ran a remarkable 4:00 to establish the new standard.

The track team now moves to the outdoor season, with meets scheduled to begin the third week of March. The Regional Meet will be in Ashland on May 11th, with the outdoor State Meet at the University of Louisville track on May 17th.

Other Girls results:

55 - Kari Baker 9.5
1500 - Roxzann Bennett 6:34
4x200 - (Campbell, Baker, Richardson, Schade) 2:13
4x400 - (Campbell, Richardson, Bryant, Schade) 5:34
4x800 - (Baker, Bryant, Richardson, Bennett) 13:46

Other Boys results:

55 - Cody Black 8.1
1500 - Black 5:23
55 Hurdles - Will Bowling 10.11

Tracks on the South Fork

by: Travis Byrd

At the ripe old age of four, I ventured out on my first fishing trip. The day started with a mad dash out the door with Dad hot on my heels and an old tin can in my hand. We were turning over everything we could, in search of the prime fishing bait. WORMS! By the time we were done, the old tin can was filled to the brim with slimy, red wigglers. I bet we pulled a half dozen out from under that last rock. It was a successful worm hunt.

With the bait secured, we wasted no time getting our poles from inside the house. Our destination was one of the creeks which drained into the South Fork, and as luck would have it, the creek was located just behind the house. We also grabbed a couple pops and some snacks to take with us on our long journey, because who knows how long we will be gone. With my pole in one hand and the can of worms in the other, we set out on what would be our fishing adventure.

We walked down the old farm road for a good piece then turned left by the lower barn, towards the creek. Dad and I stayed side by side as we walked through the cow pasture, even though I was having to take three or four steps for every one step he took. As we got closer to the creek, the air became cooler and the sound of the running water grew louder.

We came to a stop at a nice, big, shady spot on the bank, overlooking a calm stretch of water. I laid my pole down and began looking through the tin can for what I thought to be a "good worm" as Dad had asked me to do. Dad cut us off a couple of forked tree branches and stuck them deep into the ground to rest our poles on. By this time I had pulled out the fattest worm in the entire can and was ready for Dad to put it on my hook. Once baited up, I told Dad I could throw it in the water myself. I clicked the big black button on my Zebco 33 reel and held it in, just like Dad had said. Then I gripped the stubby, black handle of the pole tightly and flung it towards the water. It was a great cast. Dropping in the water about six or seven feet from the bank. A perfect spot for a fish I thought. With a smirk on his face, Dad baited his hook and cast it out. To my amazement, it went almost to other side of the creek! After seeing this, I reeled in my line and told Dad to throw my line like his. Now my worm was in a much better spot for a fish.

I kept my eyes glued to the tip of the pole, because you have to watch for movement, as Dad had told me. After what seemed like forever, I saw a sudden twitch at the tip of my pole. There it was again. This time Dad saw it as well. "The next time it twitches, grab the pole with both hands and jerk it back" Dad said, and on the next bit of movement from the tip of the pole, I did just that. The tip of my pole was bent toward the water and I could feel the tug of the fish on the other end of my line. I had hooked one! I started reeling in the line just as hard as I could. The fish put up a tough fight. It almost pulled me in twice, but Dad kept me from going all the way into the water. As I reeled the fish closer, I caught a glimpse of it. It was huge! I could have put a saddle on it's back and rode it.

I finally reeled the fish to the bank, where Dad pulled it from the water. It was a brightly colored fish. It had a dark green back, which was covered in spots and had a very bright, almost neon orange colored belly. Dad removed the hook from it's mouth and handed it to me. It took both hands for me to hold it up. I was all smiles and very excited to have caught my first fish. We put it back in the water and I began search through the tin can again for another "good worm".

Spring is almost upon us here in Kentucky. It is time to get out those old rod and reels sitting in the corner, just collecting dust and get them ready for that first fish of the season. Not to mention the gobblers will be firing up, greeting the mornings with the sounds of spring. Do not forget to purchase your new hunting and fishing license for the year and for updated season dates, please check the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife's website (www.fw.ky.gov) or the Spring Hunting guide.

heavy, wet snowfall that many Kentuckians woke up to Monday morning, the Kentucky Public Service Commission stated that more than 18,000 Kentuckians were without power as of 10 a.m. on Monday, March 5, 2012 because of these two factors.

“A Simple Man”

By: Margaret Faye Hensley

Jake had chopped wood until the sweat started running into his eyes. He had lost track of time as he began to split the wood in the woodpile. He stacked the wood under the porch and then went up to the front door and looked inside. He could see Clarence lying on the couch and didn’t hear any movement from Liza. He decided to relax on the porch for a spell, but before too long, the door opened and Liza quietly stepped out and sat on the porch swing. She swung back and forth for a long while before speaking to Jake. “You know what is going on with daddy, don’t you?” she asked Jake. “Yes, I know,” he replied. “I wanted to tell you that before I came to visit him, my sister Emma Rae and I discussed how we wanted to deal with his condition.” Liza quietly said. “We agreed that we would respect his privacy and not discuss any medical treatments or make any suggestions as to how he should live his life,” Liza told him. “I admire you for making that decision, and I am certain it is what Clarence wants.” Jake responded. “He has been so upbeat and excited for me to be here, that I am determined to make it the most wonderful time for the both of us,” she replied. “I am making memories, maybe mainly for me, but I want to live each of these days to the fullest,” she declared. “I totally understand what you are saying,” Jake responded. “You are doing a remarkable job making his days full of joy and laughter,” said Jake. “I am doing the best I can under the circumstances, and it helps knowing that you understand why I choose to allow my father to live out his life, in his own way,” explained Liza Jane. “I am here whenever you need me, and I am relieved that you came when you did, because I have seen him declining over the past two months,” Jake confessed. “He was not as forgetful when your sister was here even a couple of months ago,” Jake told her. “Well, as daddy always said, it’s not what happens to you, but how you choose to react to it, and I am choosing to view his condition as it is what it is,” Liza declared.

Clarence stepped out on the porch and put his hat on. “Let’s go treasure hunting at a couple of flea markets, what do you all say to that?” asked her daddy. They got in the truck and off they went. They had a lot of laughs and came home with a couple of must-have treasures! They ate fried
